

Editor's Note

With the present issue, 14-1, EJVS is changing its location from <http://shore.net>, later called <http://users.primushost.com/~india/ejvs/>, to a new URL:

<http://www.ejvs.laurasianacademy.com>

at a website concerned with the historical comparative mythology of Eurasia and beyond. The contents of the journal are preserved as it was published over the past twelve years. It is planned to change, eventually, the old email format of the first issues into the more easily readable and printable pdf format.

The email list connected with the journal has accordingly been changed to

<http://groups.yahoo.com/group/ejvs>

Subscribers are requested to re-subscribe at this location:

This year's issues begin with a list of the mantras of the Baudhayana Srautasutra that constitute part of the basis of Makato Fushimi's PhD thesis (Harvard 2007), but which have not been included there due to their extent. As in the past, future issues will appear at irregular intervals, as they become available for publication.

An addition to A Vedic Concordance from Baudhāyana Śrautasūtra

Makoto FUSHIMI

A century ago, in the preface to his monumental work, A Vedic Concordance, BLOOMFIELD wrote a section titled “Future Work Complementary to the Concordance.”<sup>1</sup> There he emphasized the importance of further collection and transaction of the data from not yet published texts.<sup>2</sup>

After the publication, BLOOMFIELD continued his work on his Concordance.<sup>3</sup> There are also several additions by various scholars.<sup>4</sup>

Here I add the data from the Baudhāyana-Śrautasūtra, which was edited by CALAND.<sup>5</sup> As entities this collection includes ṛc, yajus, praiṣa, pāda of śloka as in A Vedic Concordance. These mantras in this list will be integrated in the Concordance when it is revised.

1 Notes

1.1 Symbols

Two symbols are used in the list. The plus signs ‘+’ indicate that these mantras are new to the Concordance. The asterisks ‘*’ indicate that these mantras are reconstructed from the pieces expressed in the BaudhŚS.

1.2 Mantras different from their sources

When the mantras are attested in the existing editions of the older texts, i.e. Saṃhitās, Brāhamaṇas, the text are compared with them. As for the Taittirīya-Saṃhitā, the editions of WEBER,<sup>6</sup> ĀnSS,<sup>7</sup> and GOLSS<sup>8</sup> are compared. As for the Taittirīya-Brāhmana, the editions of AnSS,<sup>9</sup> BI,<sup>10</sup> and BS<sup>11</sup> are compared. As for the Taittirīya-Āraṇyaka, the editions of AnSS,<sup>12</sup> and BI<sup>13</sup> are compared.

1.3 Mantras in use in BaudhŚS

Also in the list, three ideas are employed to indicate the patterns of the changes of mantras used in BaudhŚS: ‘expand’, ‘complement’, ‘replace’.

1.3.1 Expand

When mantras recorded in Saṃhitās, Brāhmaṇas, etc. as

A1 A2 A3 B1 B2 B3 C1 C2 C3

appear in the BaudhŚS as

A1 A2 A3 B1 C1 C2 C3,

A1 A2 A3 B2 C1 C2 C3,

A1 A2 A3 B3 C1 C2 C3,

such mantras are noted ‘expanded.’ For example, TS.1.1.11.2.q

juhūr upabhṛd dhruvāsi ghṛtācī nāmnā appears in BaudhŚS like follows:

1.13:20.17 juhūr asi ghṛtācī nāmnā

1.13:20.18 upabhṛd asi ghṛtācī nāmnā

1.13:20.19 dhruvāsi ghṛtācī nāmnā

1.3.2 Complement

When mantras recorded only in part in Saṃhitās as

A1 A2 A3 B1 B2 B3 C1

appear in the full form (with C2 C3) in BaudhŚS

A1 A2 A3 B1 B2 B3 C1 C2 C3,

such mantras are noted ‘complemented.’ For example, TS.1.1.9.1.a

á dade appears, complemented with devasya ... hastābhyām, in BaudhŚS.1.11:14.3 like follows:

devasya tvā savituḥ prasave śvinor bāhubhyām pūṣṇo hastābhyām ādade

1.3.3 Replace

When mantras recorded in Saṃhitās as

A1 A2 A3 B1 B2 B3 C1 C2 C3

appear in BaudhŚS with a part (B3) replaced with other words (D),

A1 A2 A3 B1 B2 D C1 C2 C3

such mantras are noted ‘replaced.’ For example, TS.1.4.12.1.a

eṣá te yónir índrāya tvokthāyúve appears, indrāya being replaced with agnaye, in BaudhŚS.26.31:315.8 like follows:

eṣa te yonir agnaye tvokthāyuve
